POLITICS WARMING UP IN LOUDOUN COUNTY
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Leesburg, Va., April 9.—The annual election of the Loudoun County Democratic Committee, which is the primary for election of county officers will be held on June 1 has brought about great political activity throughout the county. The incumbents in office have the following opposition: For Commonwealth's Attorney, E. E. Garrett is opposed by Cecil Connor. Mr. Garrett has had the office for several terms. He was of counsel for the defense in the trial of the Commonwealth vs. Harris, who was tried for the murder of Thompson, one of the editors of the Warrenton Virginian. Mr. Connor is John L. Gill, a wealthy farmer, and is opposed by T. S. Titus, a well-known citizen. No opposition has developed against the present county clerk, W. D. Hemphstone, and the sheriff, Thomas W. Edwards.

CHANGE IN ROAD TO BE MADE SOON

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Chatham, Va., April 9.—The last survey made by the engineering corps of the Southern Railway Company for the proposed change of the roadbed by this place runs down Main Street for some distance right to the heart of the business centre of the place and should this route be adopted it will create no little stir.

Much conjecture has been indulged in as to when the railway company will commence work, and judging from the number of surveys made during the ensuing year, it will be at a very distant date.

The Town Council has applied to the State Corporation Commission to have the Southern Railway Company improve the facilities for handling freight at the depot here. A recent letter from the commission strengthens the belief that work on the proposed change will be commenced in the near future.

Mrs. T. A. Watkins and Mrs. W. M. Trevelyan, Jr., attended the missionary meeting in Martinsville this week, going as delegates from the society of the Presbyterian Church of this place.

The series of meetings now in progress at the Methodist Church has been attended by large congregations.

SPRING DRILLS BEGIN THIS WEEK

Cadets Will Get in Shape for Coming of Government Inspector.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lexington, Va., April 9.—Special spring drills begin at the Virginia Military Institute this week. The weather for the past month has been so bad, and the parade ground has frequently been in such condition, that little drilling could be done. In spite of these obstacles, the cadets have worked hard at the limited number of drills which have been possible, and the commandant has pronounced them proficient in company and battalion drill, both close and extended order.

The special drills were to have been begun on Friday, but the weather prevented; consequently they will be taken up as soon as possible this week, and will be pushed rapidly until the coming of the army inspector on April 15. These drills comprise first aid to the wounded and litter drill; signal drill, including the use of flags, heliograph and cavalry buzzer; artillery drill, including the use of guns, mortars, breech-loading rifles and Gatling guns; topography, including position, road and reconnaissance sketches; practical military engineering, including the construction of trenches, obstacles and bridges, and field exercises, including the pitching of wall and shelter tents and the forcing of defiles.

Captain Benjamin J. Simmons, of the general staff, United States Army, has been detailed by the War Department to conduct the annual government inspection at the Virginia Military Institute this year. The institute has never yet failed to be classed by the War Department as a distinguished institution, and the reports of the inspectors are always a source of gratification to the cadet corps of the Point of the South. This spring, even though in numbers the battalion is not as strong as formerly, on account of the dismissal of the third class in February, there is no doubt that the Virginia Military Institute will again be designated as distinguished.

Beginning on Monday, there will be a morning drill period from 8 until 9 o'clock, in addition to the regular afternoon period. This will be continued until April 18. With two drills a day the cadets will be able to overcome the setback given them by the weather, and will be in excellent condition when the inspector arrives.

INST. CHAPTER OF PHI BETA KAPPA
Washington and Lee Prepares Elaborate Program for Occasion.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lexington, Va., April 9.—A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will be formally installed at Washington and Lee on May 5. Dr. John H. Lane, who has been at work in the interests of the chapter for several months and has at last succeeded in completing all necessary arrangements, has proposed to include a limited number of distinguished alumni among the charter members of the chapter, and all of those who received invitations to do so will be present on May 5. Some members of the faculty, who are not already members of Phi Beta Kappa, will be admitted. The other members for 1911 will be selected from the present seniors, who will have the necessary scholastic standing.

Elaborate exercises have been planned for the occasion. First there will be a reception at the home of Dr. Denny and this will be followed by a public meeting at the chapel. Here the charter will be read to the Washington and Lee by Dr. Edwin A. Grosvenor. Dr. Latane will make the speech of acknowledgment. Then, in the Library Building, there will be a formal initiation of all new members. The initiation will be followed by a smoker with informal speeches by members, new and old.

Eastern Shore News.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Onancock, Va., April 9.—The Board of Supervisors reports the expenditures for roads in the county the past year as $12,243.33. In this sum are included $3,671.40 for permanent improvement. About three miles of improved roads were constructed. Driven now in almost any direction, except over the three miles, one would be hard to convince that even that number of people have been benefited, and other evidence of the worthlessness of the present system is not to be found. The county has about 325 miles of public thoroughfares. From north to south are three main roads, the Bayside, Middle and Seaside, and crossing from east to west are four roads, the North, Middle and South. Fourteen railroad stations and to the many necks and water landings, are at least forty more. The matter is a large one, and many solutions are proposed. One trouble in the beginning, no locality is willing to be slighted, and provision for the entire work at the start is the problem.

The Democratic county committee has decided that there shall be but one primary election in the county, to be held in September. The list of candidates for the Legislature and local offices, is usually made up by the Senate two announcements have been made—G. Walter Mann and S. James Darling, from Accomac, have been nominated by the House of Delegates.

Sewell A. Taylor, J. Abbott Byrd, Judge W. S. Blackstone and L. D. T. Quinn, Jr., of Onancock, are the candidates for commissioner of the county, and Accomac Parish the same.

For foster delegate from Northampton and Accomac, William B. Fitzhugh, has been nominated. He will have a hard fight to make.

A striking evidence of the increased valuation of property on Chincoteague Neck was the sale by Dr. N. S. Smith of the edifice of the old station for $1,500. When the lot upon which his dwelling stands was bought about 1870 the station was a water mark as the boundary and the value of the property was of no value. Now increase in population and of business makes them the most desirable.

The following officers have been chosen for the Eastern Shore Chapter, of the National Association of the Revolution, for the ensuing year: Mrs. L. D. T. Quinn, regent; Mrs. J. N. P. Hopkins, vice-regent; Mrs. R. B. Field, treasurer; Mrs. J. N. P. Hopkins, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. N. P. Hopkins, historian; Miss Sarah E. Waples, recorder.

It was decided to create a fund for the erection of a monument to the Revolution on the Eastern Shore, and the sum of $50 from the treasury of the chapter was ordered to be deposited in the savings department of the First National Bank of the nucleus. In aid of the object, voluntary contributions will be received.

It was also determined to ask all descendants for any information they may have that will help in securing authentic and full list of the troops. The wish is to have the names of the men of the name of every soldier and his command.

C. C. Cleary, secretary of the State Board of Education, spent Friday at the high school observing the work of the normal department. In an address to the pupils he expressed his gratification at the showing made.

A number of hunters have been very successful this week. In one day John Lester and Frank Divilock killed 150 redhead duck and fourteen geese.

PASTOR IS CALLED TO NORTHERN NECK CHURCHES
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lexington, Va., April 9.—Rev. Leslie H. Walton, formerly principal of the Fork Union Military Academy and now pastor of the Baptist Church at and around Scottsville, has been called to the pastorate of the Fairfield and Eastport Baptist Church, in Northumberland, by the resignation of Rev. H. S. Driscoll, who goes to Newport News to become pastor of the Second Baptist Church there. Mr. Walton preached at these two churches today, and it is the confident hope of the members that he will accept the call.

It is expected that many teachers from the Northern Neck will attend the meeting of the First Congressional District Teachers' Association, to be held next week in Hampton. Arrangements have been made to transport the teachers by boat along the Rappahannock River, and the committee will back free of charge, and the people of the town of Hampton will entertain them while in attendance on the association.

"VERY UNFORTUNATE."
That is Bryan's opinion of Martin's Election as Minority Leader.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—William Jennings Bryan last night declared he regarded the election of Thomas C. Martin of Virginia as "very unfortunate for the Democrats."

He said that the election of Martin represented the reaction of the Democrats, and the rule of seniority in his behalf would not stand examination.

"The rule," said Mr. Bryan, "may do in the army, but it is still in the Senate because the people have not had a recent opportunity to put him out, and he is not to speak with more authority than the man who comes fresh from the people."

We make a much better showing this year than two years ago. We have seventeen Progressives now, and they include nearly all the Democratic Senators. The Progressives are less earnest than the Progressive Republicans, a number of whom will be substituted for Martin men two years hence.

SHALL PRISONERS BE SURRENDERED?
Question of Jurisdiction Arises Between States of Virginia and Maryland.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lancaster, Va., April 9.—An interesting question as to jurisdiction has arisen between the Commonwealth of Virginia and the State of Maryland in the case of the three men now confined in the Annapolis county jail and awaiting trial for the murder of Captain Allen Dorsey and first mate John Adams, on the oyster sloop Ruth Irene, in the Potomac River last January. The crime was committed off Colonial Beach, near the boundary between Maryland and Virginia. The murderers were captured near Leesylvania, and committed to jail at Annapolis, the county seat of between Maryland and Virginia. The original compact between the two States, made in 1785, and ratified the following year, provided that all piracies, crimes and offenses committed by any part of the Potomac River within the limits of Virginia, or in any part thereof where the States may be divided, by the two States may be done by the courts of the Commonwealth of Virginia, and the courts of the State of Maryland, which both legal cognizance of such offense; and the Black and Jenkins award, ratified in 1878, provides that the boundary mark on the south shore of the Potomac River, to which Virginia has a claim, is to be measured by the low water mark at another, without following indentations, bays, creeks, inlets or affluent rivers, and is none of the parties concerned in the murder so far as can be learned, was ever a resident of the State of Virginia, and as Captain Dorsey was a Marylander, the question of jurisdiction is a doubtful one. The Governor of Maryland, however, has given notice of requisition to the Governor of Virginia, asking that the prisoners be delivered to the officers of the State of Maryland for trial in the courts of that State, according to the provisions of the boundary compact. On being informed of the requisition, Governor Baker, Commonwealth's Attorney for West-Coroland, wrote to the Governor of Virginia, asking that the requisition be not honored, presumably on the ground that the honoring of the requisition would imperil the riparian rights of the citizens of Maryland in that part of the waters of the Potomac River where the murder was committed, and the Governor of Virginia has declined to honor the requisition till the matter can be judicially determined. The Attorney-General of Maryland has given notice that he will appear before his honor Judge Wright, at the April term of the Circuit Court of West-Coroland to argue the case and ask that the prisoners be surrendered to the State of Maryland.
